1.	ANNOUNCER:	It's a special event for the Forest Rangers today, felks.
2.		Today's program marks the beginning of the tenth year
3.		of Uncle Sam's Forest Sangers on the air. But we'll have
4.		more to say about that at the end of the program. Right
5.		now, let's hurry along and join our friends on the Pine
6.		Cone National Forest. As we look in at the Ranger Station
7.		we find Ranger Jim Robbins, his wife Bees, his assistant,
8.		Jerry Quick, and Mary Haolloway, local school teacher
9.		and Jerry's sweetheart, sitting in front of the fireplace,
10,		They're talking about New Year's Eve, now three nights
ø11.		past. Here they are ?
m12.	MARY:	I don't believe I have ever had a happier New Year's Eve,
8 13.		Mrs. Robbins, than right here in this room the other
e 14.		night. It was a lovely party.
nr 15.	BESS:	Well, Mary, I know Jim certainly enjoyed himself. (LAUGHS)
16.		Especially when Jerry did that apple-ducking and got wet
17.		to the skin.
18.	JERRY:	Aw, why bring that up, Mrs. Robbins? I still think
19.		somebody pushed me You wouldn't know anything about
20.		that, huh Jim? Say, you asleep, Jim?
21.	BESS:	Now Jim Robbins, that's not a bit nice, going to sleep
22.		in your chair like that.
23.	JIM:	(SLEEPILY) Huh? I wasn't sleeping, Bess. Just sitting
04.		here with my eyes closed thinking. I heard Mary say

she had a good time ...

1.	JERRY:	What were you thinking about, Jim? Goin' to bed?
2.	MARY:	Now Jerry, you hush.
3.	JIM:	No, I was just sorta thinking here's another new year .
4,		1941 just starting out like a young babe like

7.	MARY:	Oh, wouldn't it have been nice if we could have had that
8,		little baby New Year with us the other night?
9,	ALL LAUGH
10.	BESS:	Whatever put that idea in your head, Mary?
11.	MARY:	Why, we usually have Santa Clause around on Christmas Eve,
12,		don't we? Well, why not Baby New Year on New Year's Eve?
15.	JIM:	Sure, Mary. The little fellow might have told us what's
14.		ahead for us this year.
15.	JERRY:	Say, I bet I could do as well prophesying about the coming
18.		year as any half-baked infant could.
17.	MARY:	All right, Jerry. If you're so smart suppose you do just
13,		that. Tell us what's shead for all of us this year.
19.	PESS:	Yes, do, Jerry And Jim, please try to stay awake. Why,
20.		your eyes are closing already.
210	JITTS	(MUMBLING) No, go ahead, Jerry I'm listening.

Well ... let me see now. I'll just use this big red apple JERRY: 1. 2. as my crystal ball ... M-m-m-m. Yes, there's the Pins 3, Cone National Forest spread out before me. Everything 4. points to 1941 being a great year. I see a lot more timber-improvement sales ahead. And there's our roads ... 5. all finished. Let's see, now ... oh, yes ... there'll be 6. 7. another ski run up at Blue Lake Regreation Area before Christmas rolls 'round again, an' ... well ... here's 8. the best forecast yet. Nobody's going to start any forest 9. fires this year ... and we're going to have a lot of fine 10. new equipment to fight fires if they do. There, how 11. does that sound so far, Jim? (LIGHT SNORING) Hey, Jim's 12. 13. fallen asleep again .... He's sound asleep. 14. MARY: BESS: Oh. Jini 15. (CHUCKLING) Let him sleep, Mrs. Robbins. Jim's had a 16. JERRY: tough day an' he rates a nap. (FADE) Let him sleep. 17. 18. SNORING UP, PAUSE, FADE IN SOUND OF KNOCKING, REPEAT KNOCKING AS SNORING FADES 19. (IN THE FOLLOWING KEEP SLIGHTLY OFF MIKE, ALL BUT JIM) 20. Huh? What's that? ... Say, are you all asleep? Answer JIM: 21. the door, Jerry. Somebody's outside, knocking. 22. I'm goin', Jim. 1.	MARY:	Well, of all things! It's a little baby Baby New Year!
2.	BESS:	Jim, can you see him from where you're sitting? He's the
3.		cutest little fellow I ve ever seen. Just look at that
4.		red scarf and those green mittens
5.	MARY:	And what's that on his ears? Why, it's a pair of yellow
6.		earmuffs. Oh, isn't he darling?
7.	JERRY:	Darling, my eye. Those three-cornered white pants don't
8.		fool me. What about that black derby he's wearing? If
9.		he's Baby New Year, I'm the Sultan of Kinkapoo.
10.	BNX:	(CHILD'S VOICE: HARDBOILED THROUGHOUT) Woll, if you're
11.		all through gaping at me, how about asking me in? It's
12.		celd out here.
13.	BESS:	Of course. You must excuse, us Baby New Year. We've been
14.		very rude. It's just that we were so surprised. Como in,
15.		please do come right on in.
16.	SOUND OF DOOR (	CLOS ING
17.	JIM:	(PUZZLED) There's just one thing I don't understand. This
18.		isn't New Year's Eve. What're you doing here tonight?
19.	BNY:	You must be dreaming, Ranger Jim. This is New Year's Eve.
20.		An' I'm on my way around the world of course.
21.	JIM:	(MUTTERING) Dreaming, huh?
20.	MARY:	I always thought Baby New Year was a sweet little fellow,
23.		from his pictures. I never expected
24.	JERRY:	Yeah, you're sure a tough little guy for a new-born infant,

(SARCASTIC) Baby New Year.

2 BNY: I've gotta be tough. It's a tough year ahead, folks ... 200 An' don't call me Baby New Year, I'm Mister New Year to 3, you. 4. JERRY: O.K., O.K. No need to get sore about 1to 5. BNY: And besides, I didn't stop here on my way around the earth 5. just to have my appearance and personality discussed. I 7 dropped in for a chat with Ranger Jim. here. 3. BESS: Why of course. Won't you take some of your things off? 9: It's warm in here. 10. BNY: Yes, thanks. I'll just shed this derby, my earmuffs, and 33. this scarf and my mittnes ... There ... 12. BESS: Let him have your chair, Jerry. It's nearest the fire, 13. JERRY: Say, what do you think I ... 14. BNY: Move, big boy, move ... Ah, this is much better ... Well, 15. Ranger Jim, you're probably wondering what I've got to talk 16. to you about. 17. JIM: Yeah, Mister New Year, I am sorta curious about your wisit, 1.8. BNY: Well, I've been noticing America's forests on this trip of 1.8. mine around the world. 60° JIM: They're not a patch compared to the forests we had fifty 07 years ago but I don't suppose you'd know about that ... 22. why ... 23. BNY: Yes, I know all about that. An' the forests fifty years 24. ago weren't a patch, as you say, to those of a hundred years ago either.

40 6	JERRY:	How would you know anything about that?
Do.	BNY:	As I was about to say, Ranger Jim, I had quite a session
er o		with old 1841 he's my 99th removed great grandfather,
A.		you know well, I had quite a session with the old boy
Ü.		before I started this trip.
S.	MARY:	You mean you get together with all the years that have
7.		passed before you take over as the New Year?
9,	BNY:	That's right, Mary And by the way, you don't mind if
2.		I call you Mary, do you, Miss Halloway?
10.	JERRY:	Say, you don't need to get so fresh
220	BNY:	As I was saying, Ranger Jim, old 1841 told me pretty well
12.		about how things were back then and of course I've seen for
15.		myself how they are now. I'm talking about the forests,
14.		mind you.
15.	JIM:	Yeah, but don't forget there's been a lot of progress in
16.		America since 1641. This country's grown up since then,
17.		New Year, and naturally the forests played a big part in
18.		the nation's progress. I'll grant we were pretty rough
19.		on them but we're trying to make up for 1% now.
20.	BNY:	Seems to me a lot of work is needed here. Your forest
21.		lands are a good ways from full production. You know,
22.		yourselfRanger Jim, we want our forests to be more than
25.		just a few clump of scrubby trees.
24.	JIM:	I know. A forest ought to give a full share of service to 25,		wildlife, and recreation, and protection of watersheds, as well as providing timber and other forest products, and the first transfer of the state of the s the strength of the strength o

1, BNY: Yes, and a forest isn't worth much unless it furnishes 2. products and services to the people, and keeps on furnishing 3. them. You've got a good head for such a young fella, New Year, 4. JIM: I bet he's been reading some of our Forest Service 5. JERRY: bulletins, Smart little fellow, ain't he? 6. BNY: 7. As I was saying. Ranger Jim, I couldn't help noticing that 8. a whole lot of forests are pretty well worn out, producing very little if anything at all. And there's a big batch 9. 10. of out-over and empty lands that could well be put back in 11. forests, too. You take the Lake States and some pars of 12. the South ... why ... 13. JIM: Yes, I know, New Year. But remember I'm only one of 14. thousands of foresters and other men interested in 15. conservation and our forest problem. Along with lots of other folks they realize these things too. And we re 16. 17. trying to do something about it. Surely, you know that. The trouble, in my opinion, is this, Ranger Jim. America's 18. BNY: been mighty slow about correcting conditions, forest 19. 20. conditions. Here's what I have in mind. I'd like you to spread the word that I want a good part of my year 21. 22. dedicated to a real building up of your forest resource. 23. It seems to me the need for such an effort is very urgent 24. right now. 25. JERRY: What's he getting at, Jim?

1. JIM: Well, as I see it, Jerry, New Year has already come from the

2. East where wars are raging. He's seen forests being wiped out

3. in such countries to keep the war machines running. He knows

4. about our own defense preparations and realizes that we're

5. already using a great amount of timber and other forest

6. products, and that ....

7. BESS: Jim, I've got an idea that Baby New Year is looking ahead even
9. beyond the wars going on today and even beyond our defense
9. preparations ... He wants us to make our forests a permanent
10. resource.

11. MARY: What do you mean, Mrs. Robbins?

12. BESS: After times like these, Mary, there is always a period of

13. recovery. American will need her forests along with all her

14. natural resources to help build up what has been destroyed

15. by the time this awful trouble is all over. I just hope that

16. it will be over this year.

17. JERRY: Right you are, Mrs. Robbins.

18. BNY: I wish that I could assure you that the trouble, as you call
19. It, will be all over during this year, Mrs. Robbins. I can't
20. tell, however, not right now. But I'm hoping ... Gosh, look
21. at that clock ... I've got to rush along.

22. JIM: I'm mighty glad you dropped in this way, New Year. I'll do all
23. I can to spread your message.

6. ANNOUNCER: And so ends the first program of this tenth year on the air 7. for Uncle Sam's Forest Rangers. Since this is such a notable 8. occasion we're bringing the folks of the Pine Cone National 9. Forest up to the microphone new for a word of greeting. We 10. thought it would be nice to get a personal expression on this 11. occasion from Ranger Jim and Bess Robbins, and from Jerry and 12. Mary. All right now, here we are and ... you're first, Ranger 13. Jim.

14. JIM: Thanks, Everett. Folks, I hope that we have been able, during 15. the past nine years, to give you some idea of the work that 16. goes on in your forests, the National Forests. I hope that 17. you've been helped to better understand what your forests are 18. and that they mean to you. Finally, I hope that you'll visit 19. some of your National Forests first chance you get this year. 20. You'll find that your forest rangers, old timers or young ones, are pretty much the same wherever they are and that they me 21.

In Jim's dream, remember 3, what Mrs. Robbins had to say about the need for maintaining Elina a our forests when this war business is over and the reconstruction period comes along? That's something we 5. Americans ought to keep thinking about. I know I will, out 5, on the Pine Cone National Forest. And now, Mary, it's your 70 8, turn. Thank you, Jerry, Being a school teacher I'd like to say MARY: 9. something to all those people in our radio audience who are in 10. any way conserned with the education and welfare of children. 11, It seems to me that we should overlook no opportunity to make 120 children nature-conscious and conservation-minded. We all 1 3 life in a land blessed with a glorious heritage in the form of 1.30 2.5, natural resources. I think that children should be taught to appreciate them and to protect them. I hope that our program 18, helps in this. And now, I'm very happy to turn the microphone 27. 18. over to Mrs. Robbins. 19.
